New Regulatory Compliance Group Unveiled

FOSTER CITY, Calif. – April 10, 2007 – Pharmatech Associates, Inc., a leader in pharmaceutical and biotech manufacturing process methodology, will showcase its complete range of consulting services and publicly launch its new Regulatory Compliance Group at INTERPHEX in New York City, April 24-26, 2007. Pharmatech will be located at booth #382 at the show.

Pharmatech provides a full range of consulting services to the pharmaceutical, biotech, and medical device industries. This expertise spans the entire product development lifecycle, from pre-discovery through Phase 4 trials as well as operational excellence. These services are delivered through its four divisions: Validation Services, Consulting Services, Project Controls, and the new Regulatory Compliance Group.

The new Regulatory Compliance Group consists of a team of top-tier former FDA specialists combined with Life Sciences industry quality and operational systems experts. The combination offers a unique in-depth comprehension of FDA regulations and data-driven scientific methodology, such as Six Sigma™. This ensures the effective remediation and sustained compliance with FDA concerns for drug development and manufacturing problems through what Pharmatech terms Compliance through Science.

“The methodology that guides our new Regulatory Compliance Group has two essential benefits for our clients,” said Calvin Wong, CEO, Pharmatech Associates. “First, we are able to quickly solve a range of complex operational problems that have eluded other methods of analysis. Secondly, we have the skill set to remediate FDA concerns on a sustained basis.”
